TOOK LATELY OFF.
Several years ago I was called to see a colored woman who had a malignant form of cancer on her foot. The cancer grew worse under the prescribed treatment, and the toes and one side of the foot were lengthened entirely away. The patient could not have survived much longer, but I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and it cured her sound and well. This was three years ago and there has been no return of the disease. I have also used S. S. in many other cases with the best results, and have cured a great many cases of rheumatism with it which had resisted all other treatment. I regard Swift's Specific a most excellent medicine for blood diseases, as its tendency is to drive out the poison.

The Story of a Gray Cat.

The gray cat lived on a boat, and had a charming family of three gray kittens.

One thought she would forget to return to the boat on time; the gang plank was drawn

in, the big wheel went round, and away came down the dock when the boat went round the point. Just imagine how surprised and delighted the kittens were when the next boat

down the river brought pussy, who found her old home as soon as the boat touched the wharf. You would think that would be the last time she would go ashore alone. But,

what a temptation to visit wharf boats was so strong that she got left somewhere on the Indiana side of the Ohio. This trip the steward left the boat, and the kittens disappeared with him.

Three or four days afterward the "A."

arrived from below, and the gray pussy came up on her. No one knows how she found out that the boat was bound up the river instead of down, for other boats had stopped at that place, but only this one going up to Cincinnati. Pussy was soon installed in her old home again; but the kittens were not,

and she was lonesome. So she went out on the wharf boats and found a poor, forlorn kitten, nearly as large as herself. This she carried in her mouth up into the cabin of the Golden Rule and placed it on a chair, and instead that it should be noticed and caressed,

nor moved the cat until it was supplied.

That's Different.

I asked her if she'd take a stroll.

She said she didn't care.

I asked her if she'd take my arm.

She said she didn't care.

I carefully remarked "How warm?"

She said she didn't care.

"Let's take the opera," said I.

She said she didn't care.

"What seats do you prefer I'd buy?"

She said she didn't care.

"Oh, when you go home, 'Ice cream'?"

She said she didn't care.

"Oh, do you like my bonny bride?"

She said she didn't care to have

More than one husband at a time.

HE RODE FREE.

The Man Who Bot He Could Beat the

Conductor Is Now President of a Road.

Six or eight of us were sitting around the store in the old Mansion house in Buffalo one night a decade or years ago, and the talk

finally turned upon railroads and how conductors had been beaten by deadheads. One man told a story, to be followed by another,

and a New Yorker finally observed:

"Yes, but this was in the past, before there was any real system or much sharpness. No one can beat a conductor in these days."

"That's very true," added a second. "You have got to either come down or get off."

There was a quarter of an hour of such talk, and then a man who had moved into the circle and remained silent finally said:

"Well, I dunno. I am sharp enough to ride from here to Batavia without paying fare."

"Got a pass, maybe?"

"No, I haven't."

"Do you mean to say that you can ride

without ticket or money?"

"I have done it."

"Is the conductor a relative of yours?"

"No, sir."

"You didn't put up any personal property?"

"Not a thing."

"Well, if it can be done I'd like to see it.

There are three of us going down, and I'll put $5 that you can't ride for nothing."

"You won't put the conductor on to me?"

"No."

"Well, I'm going that way myself, and I believe I'll cover that bet. The understanding is that I show neither pass, ticket nor cash, nor secure the conductor."

"That's the size of it. Put your money in the hands of this gentleman, Judge Davis,

who lives at Batavia."

"He couldn't do nothing as I knowed on,"

replied Sam slowly, "keep eat, an' sleep, an'

lay round an' holler, an' make a fuss. Dat's what made 'em call 'im what they did."

And what did they call him," asked the lawyer.

"Why, sah," replied Sam, "folks called 'im
